Emergency Working from Home Ready

The top 3 things you need to know

It goes without saying that Covid-19 has caused unexpected disruption to the public sector, with many organisations still relied upon to perform critical services during this challenging time. Vodafone is here to offer stability and connectivity for our customers wherever possible - in particular to help with the move for many to home working.

Short-term home working solutions to keep critical services going

In the spirit of Vodafone, customers remain our number one priority. We're now offering short-term plans at reduced prices to help keep critical support going in this uncertain time. .

An Emergency Home Worker plan to get everyone up and running

To help ensure everyone is supported, we're offering a three-month discounted plan so people can easily work from home.

Emergency Data Bundles to help organisations cope

We know there's been a surge in data usage, so we've reduced the cost of our shared data bundles to ensure everyone can stay up and running. We have also introduced a single user unlimited data bundle for single user plans.

Personal message from Anne Sheehan, Head of Business, Vodafone UK

The UK is facing difficult times with the spread of Covid-19, but Vodafone is making sure you are kept connected to the people that matter.

I know as well as anyone the importance of getting set up to work from home, as I write this from self-isolation in Ireland.

During this time, it's more important than ever to stay connected to our friends, family and colleagues and keep critical services going. This is why we've added extra capacity to our broadband and mobile networks, as well reducing the cost of our data and home working plans. We'll be operating these services to keep the public sector connected, despite the uncertainty we're facing at this difficult time.

We hope our offers will make a little bit easier for your organisation, and help to continue your vital work during the recent disruption..

Take care,

Anne Sheehan

Our solutions
