An unaccompanied asylum seeking child's asylum seeking legal status can change several times over the course of their case being processed by the Home Office

As legal status changes, it is a requirement to record the end date of their previous status and add the new status and date (under no circumstances should the previous legal status be deleted or overwritten).

The end date of previous legal status will be the date of decision from Home Office on the child's new status. With start date of new legal status the same date of decision.
